

2022 Annual Praise Report

Our Anchor Holds

A Note from Nancy's Heart

From the early days of my childhood, I grew to know and love hymns and gospel songs—often singing every stanza and learning the deep, rich theology many of those hymns infused into my mind and heart. The hymns that are particularly beloved to me are those which are grounded in Scripture and deepen our understanding of the great themes of the Christian faith. They lead us to rejoice in God's greatness, power, and glory; His saving grace and His eternal plan.

This ministry report is cause for celebration! Its pages are filled with stories of God's goodness—of Heaven's rule over the events of the past year. As you read of the victories God has granted and the lives that have been impacted in the process, may you delight in knowing that your partnership is a vital part of the song God is writing in and through this ministry.

The Revive Our Hearts Team and I look forward to the new ministry year as we help women thrive in Christ in these challenging days. Thank you for your prayers and financial support toward that end.

Joining you in the everlasting song,

Nancy DeMoss Wolgemuth

Our Anchor Still Holds

An annual praise report is typically a short-range snapshot—pages dotted with ministry highlights, beautiful photos, and compelling testimonies of God’s goodness over the last 365 days. You’ll find a fair amount of those notes in the pages that follow. We hope you’ll also find something more as we walk back through 2022 together to the soundtrack of a series of classic hymns and gospel songs.

Next to reading the Bible, singing to and about the Lord has probably been the activity that has produced the greatest encouragement in my Christian walk when times get hard.

—Nancy DeMoss Wolgemuth

“My Anchor Holds,” written in 1902 by pastor and prolific hymn writer W. C. Martin, inspired the title of this report. It expresses one of our core values here at Revive Our Hearts: timelessness. Our message is the same today as it has been for more than twenty years. The need for women to experience freedom, fullness, and fruitfulness in Christ will never expire.

Thank you for joining us in this mission to share the message of personal revival and biblical womanhood with women around the world. Despite the upside-down days in which we live, Christ is steady and unmovable. Our Anchor holds.

*Tho' the angry surges roll
On my tempest-driven soul,
I am peaceful, for I know,
Wildly though the winds may blow,
I've an anchor safe and sure,
That can evermore endure.*

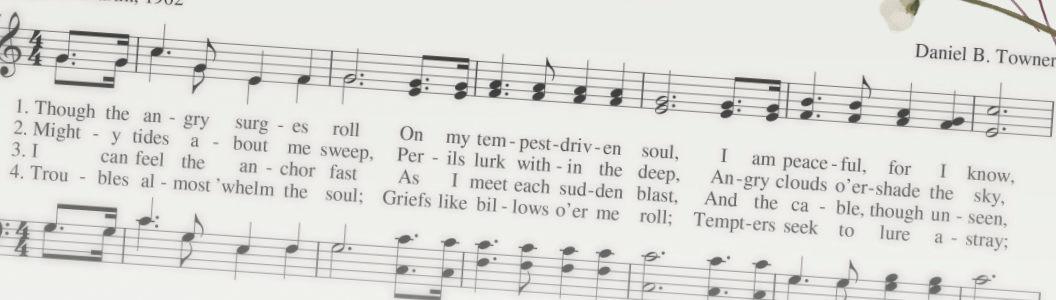

*And it holds, my anchor holds:
Blow your wildest, then, O gale,
On my bark so small and frail;
By His grace I shall not fail,
For my anchor holds, my anchor holds.*

Broadcasting & Podcasting

On the day of my husband's funeral, I awoke thinking, I can't do this. But I opened up my Revive Our Hearts podcast and listened to a beautiful message about hope in widowhood and an awesome hymn, "Christ Our Hope in Life and Death." Then I knew I could get through the day with the help of the Holy Spirit. —Cynthia

SARAH MEETS MERCY

When Sarah first walked through the doors of a church in her area, no one knew what had led her there . . . or what caused her to move to Minnesota in the first place.

Just one year earlier, Sarah broke up with a boyfriend after experiencing emotional, physical, and psychological abuse. After her relationship ended, the man she'd been dating took his own life. The community blamed Sarah for his death.

She hoped she was leaving the trauma behind, but she still wasn't happy. Eventually, she reached a breaking point. She began to pray: "Lord, if You're real, You need to reveal Yourself to me because I can't do this anymore."

Sarah's mom sent her a link to a church. Sarah didn't know the people there. She didn't have any family nearby. She was simply a woman desperate for the love of Jesus.

A woman named Mercy introduced herself to Sarah on that first Sunday.

“All I could do,” she remembers, “was say yes to partnering with Him to display that love to her in any way that I could. My prayer was, ‘Lord, show me how to love her.’”

God had already been working in Mercy’s heart. While she was doing dishes one day, she heard a Revive Our Hearts radio program featuring Susan Hunt. That message ignited a passion for older women in her church to invest in younger women—younger women like Sarah.

Not long after their first meeting, Mercy invited a few women to her house for a bonfire. She texted Sarah and asked her to come. When Sarah received that message, she remembers, “I was ecstatic that someone was inviting me.”

Their friendship began to grow. As a result of the mentoring relationship, Sarah’s life changed forever: “She continued to seek after me and get to know who I was,” Sarah says. “She poured God’s love, grace, and mercy into my life. Over the next year and a half, she loved me into God’s arms.”

ENCOURAGING WOMEN LEADERS TO SERVE WELL

After True Woman '22, Revive Our Hearts hosted a Sisters in Ministry gathering. Twenty-five speakers and authors met with Nancy and other ROH leaders for a powerful time of encouragement and iron sharpening iron.

EQUIPPING TEENS TO BE A LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS

True Woman '22 was my first Revive Our Hearts event in person, and my fourteen-year-old daughter went with me. Our hearts are full. The highlight was that my daughter committed her heart to Christ on her knees while she was there. Hallelujah!

She told me that she was blind, but now she can see who God really is. She shared that she was going through the motions of Christianity because she was born in a Christian home, but that inside, she was distant. I praise the Lord for this victory. I pray that she continues growing in her personal relationship with God and that she can be a light that shines in the darkness to bring others to Jesus.

In my daughter's words: "Now He is not the God of my parents anymore, but MY God." All glory to Christ forever and ever, amen.

Because of Your Support

SHANNAN'S STORY

When Shannan arrived at this year's True Woman Conference, her mind was distracted.

I am a pastor's wife, and I came to the conference exhausted and spent much of the time stressing. I struggled to sit still for long periods of time and felt like I wasn't connecting with the teaching. "Lord, please help me listen," I prayed—but still I felt nothing.

On the plane ride home, Shannan pulled out a book that she had been given at the conference. As she read the first chapter, something inside her broke.

I knew I had been trying to solve all my problems in my own strength. I confessed to the Lord right there on the plane, and as the tears finally came, I sent myself this text: "It's going to be different from here. Remember who is on your side. Remember that you have no reason to fear. Listen and pursue the Lord like nothing else in life matters."

God spoke to Shannan's heart in His perfect timing. Still, she had no idea how much she was about to need the message that "Heaven rules."

My husband came to pick me up at the airport. He got out of the car, nearly collapsed onto me, and told me I needed to drive. The situation escalated quickly, and my husband started asking me to call 911.

It's in fulness
That's

Shannan and her husband

I write to share this story because I know countless hours of preparation, organization, study, and prayer went into making this conference happen. The Lord was faithful to use every little bit to prepare me for what was ahead of me. He used the weekend to call me back to His side. He refreshed my heart and restored my joy.

Shannan was equipped with resources exactly when she needed them—resources that you have made possible through your partnership with this ministry. Because of your support, Shannan not only survived her difficult circumstances—God revived her heart in the midst of them.

Thank you for making it possible for this ministry to help women build their lives on the solid rock of Christ.
